

Paola Cotticelli is full professor for Historical Linguistics at the University of Verona, Department of Cultures und Civilisations.

She graduated in Lettere at the University of Pavia in 1985.

In 1990 she received a PhD in Comparative Linguistics at the University of Munich (Germany).

In 1985-1986 she was awarded an exchange scholarship for Lectures at the University of Mainz (Germany) at the Institute of Romance Philology.

From 1988 to 1994 she was Researcher at the Hittite Dictionary Project (DfG Project: "Hethitisches Wörterbuch") at the University of Munich.

Since 1994 she is author and member of the scientific and editorial board of Hethitisches Wörterbuch.

In 1994 she received the qualification of Ricercatore (Assistant Professor) at the University of Verona.

2000-2011 she has been Associated Professor of Historical and Comparative Linguistics at the University of Verona.

In 2002 she got in Vilnius (Lithuanian) a scientific prize from the Lithuanian Academy of Sciences for her work in Baltic Linguistics.

Since 2007: Foundation and direction of the research centre "Laboratorio del Lessico di Linguistica" dealing with the development of a Digital Metalinguistic Archive, bibliographical repertories (by the software Endnote), metalinguistic concordances (english, german, french, italian) and with studies and projects on epigraphic and writing systems (Old Greek alphabets, runes, Anatolian writing systems by the software BASP). See home page at:

<http://dlsc.univr.it/dol/main?entbibliocr&id=119>

Since 2008 she is vice Director from the Language Center (Centro Linguistico di Ateneo) at the University of Verona.

2009-2010 direction of a jointed Villa Vigoni - DAAD Research Project with the University of Eichstätt (Germany) in the humanities and social sciences.

Since 2011: direction of the Unit in Verona of a PRIN Project about metalanguage of linguistics.

2012-2018, Director of the Language Center at the University of Verona.

2014-2016: Principal Investigator of a by von Thyssen Stiftung funded research on syntax of Ancient Indo-European languages. (Project nr. 10.14.2.069, Titel: „Konkurrierende Ausdrucksformen in der indogermanischen Syntax: Die Syntax des Partizips nach seiner Morphologie, die Syntax des Satzes nach seinen Konstituenten“).

2015-2017: Principal Investigator of a Marie Curie Grant, Horizon 2020 (Fellow Dr. Federico Giusfredi.)(project nr. 655954, Acronym SLUW)

1994-2018: Co-Director of the Hittite Dictionary in Munich.

Since a.y. 2017-2018: coordinator of a I-level master for Italian as foreign/ second language

Since 2018: PI of a PRIN project (prot. 20172F2FEZ).